THE N°. 348.

MARYLAND GAZETTE,

Containing the freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

WEDNESDAY, December 25, 1751.

PARIS, September 8.

OUR laſt Advices from America aſſure, that all our Colonies are in a very good Condition; that Trade flouriſhes there; that they have Plenty of all Kinds of Proviſions; and that during this laſt Summer a great Number of Volunteers arrived from France, ſome to ſettle there, and others to ſerve in a Military Capacity.

Hague, Sept. 11. Beſides the Decree lately iſſued by the King of Portugal, revoking that of the 8th of April, 1739, by which Spices, and other Eaſt India Products were forbid to be imported by foreign Veſſels into his Dominions; his Moſt Faithful Majeſty is diſpoſed to make ſome other Regulations, which will prove very favourable to the Commerce of the Dutch.

Paris, Sept. 14. Lord Marſhall is arrived from Berlin. The Cavalry in Alſace are very near completely mounted; an Order is expected for augmenting the Infantry from twelve to fifteen Companies in every Battalion.

Amſterdam, Sept. 12. Some private Letters received here intimate, that there is Reaſon to believe that King Theodore of Corſica, will again be brought upon the Scene, partly to prevent the French from making the Advantages they propoſe, in mediating and accommodating Matters between the Genoeſe and Corſicans; and partly to puniſh the Genoeſe for their Conduct in the late War, having, without any ſubſtantial Reaſon, taken Party with the Houſe of Bourbon, and thereby cauſed the War to continue much longer in Italy than it would otherwiſe have done, and put the Allies of the Houſe of Auſtria to extraordinary Expences, which they would have no Occaſion to have been at if theſe Republicans had better conſulted their own Intereſt, and had adhered to the Neutrality which they at firſt embraced. Moreover, it cannot be imagined that the Powers who wiſh well to the Court of Vienna, could ſee, with Pleaſure, the Genoeſe, wearied out by the Chicanery and Turbulence of the Corſicans, diſpoſe of that Iſland to any Prince of the Houſe of Bourbon; neither would it pleaſe the King of Sardinia to have this Iſland, ſo near to his Kingdom of Sardinia, in the Poſſeſſion of a Prince who was dependent upon either Spain or France, or on both.

Hague, Sept. 12. The ill Conſequences are very much apprehended which the Miſunderſtanding between the Engliſh and the French may be of, in Relation to the Affairs of the Eaſt Indies, where Mr. Dupleix being become powerful, may poſſibly puſh the Intereſt of the French India Company ſo far as to embroil the two Nations; for an Infringement of Commerce is, to the Engliſh, a String that muſt not be touched upon, eſpecially ſince by the Peace of Aix la-Chapelle, nothing ought to be undertaken, either in Europe or the Indies, by one of the Parties, againſt the Intereſt of the other; and it is well known that good Fortune frequently renders People ſo inſolent, that they imagine when that blind Goddeſs ſmiles upon them, they may do any Thing with Impunity.

Turin, Sept. 2. The laſt Letters from Savoy adviſe, that the Flame iſſues with ſo much Violence out of the Cavities which have been made within this Month at the Top of the Mountain de Plainejou, in the Province of Faucigny, that the Towns of Paſſi and Cervos, which are ſituated at the Foot of it, have already receiv'd great Damage, inſomuch that the Inhabitants of thoſe Places have abandoned them, and taken away with them all their Effects.

Genoa, Sept. 4. According to the laſt Advices from Corſica, the Inhabitants of Niolo, one of the Communities beyond the Mountains, ſeem to make a Difficulty of ſubmitting to the Regulation propoſed by the Chevalier de Chauvelin, and accepted of by the reſt of the Communities, ſo that it is thought M. Curſay will be obliged to ſend Troops to bring them to Reaſon.

Cadiz, Auguſt 24. Orders have been ſent to Commodore Stuart, who is cruizing near Gibraltar, againſt the Algerines, not to loſe Sight of the Coaſt, that he may be the more at Hand to protect ſome Regiſter Ships from the Weſt-Indies, which are daily expected.

Amſterdam, Sept. 24. We are ſurprized, tho' there is ſo happy a Proſpect of Tranquility being eſtabliſhed in the North, that no Diſpoſitions are making for a Reform of Troops, either by the Court of Ruſſia, or thoſe of Sweden, Pruſſia, or Vienna; and that the Turks remain ſtill upon the Frontiers. This, we imagine, confirms the Notion of theſe Powers being deſirous, before reducing their Forces, of ſeeing the Succeſs of the Diet of the States of the Kingdom of Sweden.

Genoa, Sept. 15. The laſt Advices which the Government received from Corſica, were not near ſo favourable as we had Reaſon to hope they would be; ſome of the Communities, and among them that of Niolo, having refuſed to ſubſcribe the new Regulation, under Pretence, that inſtead of ſecuring to them the Enjoyment of the Privileges they have been ſo long ſolliciting, it ſubjected them, as much as ever, to the Authority of the Republic, and the arbitrary Juriſdiction of its Officers. The Inhabitants of this Community have even carried their Diſcontent ſo far, as to take up Arms again, and have openly declared themſelves againſt the Meaſures of the Republic; upon which the Marquis de Grimaldi has ſent a Body of Genoeſe Militia againſt them, with whom they have already had ſome Skirmiſhes.

Berlin, Sept. 21. They write from Paris, that Lord Marſhall, the King's Miniſter Plenipotentiary at the Court of France, had his firſt Audience of his Majeſty, and of all the Royal Family, the 14th Inſtant, and met with a moſt gracious Reception.

Conſtantinople, Auguſt 28. The Janizaries have lately mutiny'd, and demanded the Head of the Grand Vizir, who (is allowed to be one of the greateſt Stateſmen this Empire ever produced; but ſome of their Chiefs being in his Intereſt, and putting themſelves at the Head of the Malecontents, in order to ſerve him, thoſe who were the Authors of this Mutiny, were ſeized the following Night, and have not ſince been heard of.

Cadiz, Auguſt 30. Some private Letters from Paris intimate, that the Affairs of the Clergy ſeem to be afreſh embroiled; but one of them ſays, that they may poſſibly adhere too tenaciouſly to their pretended Rights, and at length tire out the Moderation of the King, and determine his Majeſty to have leſs Regard for that formidable Body than he has hitherto had.

Ferrara, Sept. 14. Some Miſunderſtandings having ariſen lately between the Inhabitants of ſome Villages upon the Borders of the Modenois, and thoſe of the State of Bologna, the latter carried Things ſo far as to purſue and attack their Adverſaries upon the Territories of Modena, which the Duke being informed of, has demanded Satisfaction for ſuch Behaviour, and in the mean Time has ſent a Body of Troops into the Bologneſe, where they live at Diſcretion.

Verſailles, Sept. 23. Some freſh Inſtructions have been ſent to the Duke de Mirepoix, relating to the Miſunderſtanding between this Court and that of London, about the Iſland of St. Lucia. The King perſiſts in his Reſolution of maintaining his Right to that Iſland, founded upon the Conqueſt which his Subjects made of it in 1624.

Liſbon, Auguſt 24. The French Squadron, which was upon our Coaſt ſome Days, has diſappeared: It is reported, that it is gone gone to the East Indies; and this Report is founded upon their having taken in a great Addition of Provisions, and their being rejoined by the Frigates, which they detach'd to Cadiz to take up 150000 Piastres for the French East India Company.

LONDON.

August 27. Saturday last, during the Time of Service at the Portugueze Ambassador's Chapel, a Gentleman, elegantly dressed, came in, who happened not to be of the Roman Catholic Persuasion, and neglected to kneel at the Time of the Oblation; this Circumstance so enraged a Woman that kneeled behind him, that she arose in a terrible Passion, and demonstrated her Zeal by knocking him down with the Chair on which she had been sitting, which rose to great a Commotion in the Chapel, that his Excellency thought proper to retire.—This Instance of Bigotry, though not a very important one, may serve however, to shew what would be the Consequences, were a Faith established amongst us that encourages its Votaries in ignorant Persecution and lawless Tyranny.

August 31. The following Instance of a remarkable Check given to the Insolence of two young Bloods of the Army deserves to be made public: About a Fortnight ago, as a worthy Alderman of this City was crossing Tower-hill, in the Evening, with a Servant lighting him along with a Glass Lanthorn, he was suddenly interrupted by the coming up of a young Officer, who, sans Ceremonie, kicked the Lanthorn to Pieces: Hereupon the Alderman seized this gallant Assailant by the Collar, and demanded his Reasons for so prepostrous a Procedure. Mean Time up comes another Son of Mars, who boldly clapped his Hand to his Sword, in order to intimidate the affronted Magistrate, and release his Companion. The Gentleman, however, far from being terrified at the Odds of two to one, observed to the second Champion, "That his Behaviour was still more gross and scandalous than that of the first Aggressor; and that he deserved to be severely handled for having the Impudence and Meanness to draw upon an unarmed Person." At the same Time, like a Man of Spirit, he laid Hands on the other Offender, held him likewise fast, and then called out to the Tower Guard for Assistance. On this, one or more of the Centinels on Duty approached, but retreated on perceiving that the Gentlemen whom they were charged to take into Custody belonged to their own Corps. Hereupon the Alderman, still resolute, and determined to do himself Justice, told the young Heroes, that though he saw it was in vain to expect Assistance from that Quarter, yet he was resolved not to quit them, 'til he had obtained Satisfaction; and withal gave them to understand who and what he was whom they had so lightly made choice of to exercise their gallant Exploits upon. Our military Gentlemen finding what Hands they were got into, and that their Retreat was absolutely cut off, at length consented to attend the Victor before their commanding Officer in the Tower; who, upon hearing the Complaint, agreed with the Plaintiff, that the Outrage he had received was indeed too gross to be connived at; and that the Offenders were certainly liable to very severe Punishment. However, as they appeared sorry for what they had done, it was moved, that they should be pardoned on Submission; but this was resolutely and with great Reason denied by the Party injured, who insisted on the Delinquents being put under Arrest, and continue so 'til they should hear further from him. The next Day the Alderman went into the Country, whither he was soon followed by some Persons of Fashion, Friends to the two Prisoners, who warmly sollicited their Pardon, but to no Purpose, the Complainant appearing determined to make an Example of them, in Justice both to himself and the Public. A Letter was then produced from their Colonel, who likewise interceded for them, and undertook to be answerable for their future Conduct; adding, that if the Affair was not privately adjusted, but should come to the ----'s Ear, they would both be certainly broke. Tho' this was no more than such a Conduct justly deserved, yet, as the worthy Alderman did not desire the utter Ruin of the Offenders, he very genteelly, at length, acquiesced to the repeated Sollicitations of so many Persons of Rank and Character, and agreed to forgive the Affront he had receiv'd, upon Condition that the two Heroes should humbly ask his Pardon; and, by Way of Satisfaction, that each of them should pay Twenty Guineas for the Use of the Lying-in Infirmary. These Conditions were gladly accepted; and we hear that the Forty Guineas have accordingly been remitted to the said Hospital.

Sept. 9. Some private Letters from Hamburgh by the last Holland Mail, assure us, that the Duke of Saxe Gotha has concluded a Treaty of Subsidy with the King of Great Britain, by which his Serene Highness engages to furnish his Britannic Majesty with a Body of 7000 Men.

Sept. 14. Some Days ago, a Linnen Draper in the City of London, received a Parcel inclosed in such a Number of Papers, that his Patience in unfolding them was near exhausted, that he began to conclude it some Trick put upon him, but determining to see the End of it, he at last found six Guineas, without any Particulars being specified on Account, or in what Manner they were to be applied, and all his Recollection could not furnish him, with the least Hint concerning it: But within two Days after, he received a Letter by the Penny post, acquainting him, that the Persons who had sent them, had some Time before been at his Shop, and looking over some Goods, the most urgent Necessity had prompted them to make free with a Piece of Cambrick, which they conveyed off without giving the least Room for Suspicion: The Letter was very expressive of a strong Sensibility of the Fraud they had committed, and assured him, that as their Circumstances were mended since that Time, the six Guineas were more than an ample Recompence for the Debt they had so unjustifiably contracted.

In a private Letter from Edinburgh we have the following remarkable Story which happened there: An old Woman who was reputed a Miser, being very anxious to know how her Effects would be disposed of after her Death, provided she should make no Will, fell upon the Scheme of counterfeiting Death. She communicated the Secret to her Maid, who readily embraced it, and gave it out that she was dead; the Apparatus being finished, a great many Relations assembled, who waited impatiently for her Death, and began to talk very freely about her Affairs, one claiming one Thing, and another, another; 'til at last her Patience being quite exhausted, she could no longer contain her Rage at hearing her Effects disposed of contrary to her Inclination, and rose up immediately, telling them, that she should prevent their Designs by making a Will, which produced so terrible a Consternation in the Company, that some scream'd out, and others fainted away.

A Scheme is said to be drawing up, which is to be presented to Parliament next Session, for paying off the Debts of the Navy by a Lottery, to consist of 100,000 Tickets at 10 l. each.

By the Success, Capt. Gattrell, arrived at Portsmouth, we have certain Advice that the French Fleet were off the Rock of Lisbon when the above Ship came away; and their Destination is yet a Secret.

Advices are received in Holland, that there have died at Constantinople, by the terrible Contagion, near 70,000 Persons in a very short Time, upon which the States General have likewise issued out Orders for all their Ships arriving from thence, to perform the long Quarentine.

We hear that the Marquis de Mirepoix had some Days ago, a Conference with the Earl of Holderness, and complained that the English assumed a Right to visit such French Ships as fall in their Way: Upon which, 'tis said, the Earl assured his Excellency, Care should be taken to verify the Subject of his Complaint, in order to apply a proper Remedy.

The foreign Gazettes are so kind as to let us into an important Secret, viz. That our Court is informed, by the Dispatches of a Courier lately arrived from Madrid, that there is Nothing more meant by the Armaments making in Spain, than just to put the Marine on the old Footing, his Catholic Majesty being resolved to use his utmost Endeavours to maintain a General Peace: And this, we presume, may be depended on, as our M———r there is keen enough to worm the Secret out of the Spanish Ministry, if any Thing else was designed by their Armaments. They also tell us, that the said Courier brought a List of the Spanish Navy, whereby it appears, that the Number of Men of War which that Crown keeps up, both in Europe and the Indies, does not amount to above 45, including some Ships actually on the Stocks.

Sept. 28. Letters by the Mail Yesterday from Leghorn, assure that two Neapolitan Barks, had, after an Engagement which lasted three Hours, taken three Corsairs from Tripoli.

Private Letters from Hamburgh, are filled with most melancholy Accounts of the Damages sustained by Land and Sea through the late Storm, by which several of the Villages, and many of the fine Gardens in the Neighbourhood of that famous City, are ruined, and the Town of Cluckstad had certainly been swept away, if the Dyke in its Neighbourhood had not failed, by which a Passage was opened for the Water that fell upon the flat Country behind it.

The King of France has sent Instructions to his Ministers at foreign Courts, to declare, that the Alteration which has happened in the French Ministry, by the voluntary Resignation of the Marquis de Puysieux, and the Nomination of M. de St. Contest as Secretary of State for foreign Affairs, shall make none in the general System of his Court; and that his Most Christian Majesty would always be equally attentive to the Means of strengthening the Peace which at present happily subsists in Europe. The same Declaration has been made to the foreign Ministers residing at the French Court.

WILLIAMSBURG.

October 31. A Letter from the Governor of South-Carolina advises, that the Cherokees, who were lately in Williamsburg, under the Character and Denomination of Ambassadors and Nobles, are People of no eminent Quality or Dignity, but obscure Persons; that they had committed many Cruelties, and Injuries, to the Inhabitants of that Province, and were to have been delivered up by their Countrymen to be punished; that it is false that they ever made Application to the Governor of Carolina, or had not been furnished with Goods, they having been abundantly supplied with every Thing by that Province for near forty Years: This Intelligence is therefore inserted in the Gazette, that the Inhabitants of this Colony may be cautious in their Commerce with them.
